

Contact: Michael Belcher
(781) 483-3556 / publicity@hipharp.com

WHAT: PBS broadcast of Grammy-Nominated
“Invention & Alchemy”

WHO: Deborah Henson-Conant & the Grand Rapids
Symphony - David Lockington, Conductor

INFO: HipHarp.com (artist website)
InventionAndAlchemy.com (project website)

HI-RES PHOTOS: Hi-res downloadable photos of the artist and album artwork available for download at:
HipHarp.com/publicity

AUDIO & VIDEO CLIPS, WHO’S WHO, etc.:
InventionAndAlchemy.com

070228_PBS_PrsRIs_Ntl.doc

PBS Broadcast for Grammy-Nominated Invention

Composer/Performer Deborah Henson-Conant

“Invention & Alchemy,” with the Grand Rapids Symphony - David Lockington, Conductor

Composer/Performer Deborah Henson-Conant’s Grammy-nominated project, “Invention & Alchemy,” is coming to Public Television stations nationwide in 2007.

“Invention & Alchemy” features Deborah Henson-Conant’s original music and stories with the 80-piece Grand Rapids Symphony and conductor David Lockington. The PBS broadcast is a streamlined, television version of the original DVD, a multi-camera, surround-sound disc, shot in high-definition. The soundtrack CD of “Invention & Alchemy” was nominated for a 2007 Grammy Award.

Henson-Conant plays electric harp and performs in styles from blues to flamenco. “Invention & Alchemy” takes us into the mind of this musical inventor – a world where stories meet music and a whole symphony orchestra transforms from a Mexican street band to a Celtic landscape, to a polka party with the garbageman, to a time machine. It’s a one-woman show...with a cast of 80 -- and Public Television stations throughout the U.S. will begin broadcasting “Invention & Alchemy” starting spring 2007.

For more info on the artist or project, or to schedule an interview, contact:
Michael Belcher / (781) 483-3556 / publicity@hipharp.com

-###-